MOTTO

The motto of the College is “Initium Sapientiae Timor Domini,” (“The fear of the Lord is the beginning of Wisdom”). This phrase is taken from Psalm 111, verse 10 and also appears in the Book of Sirach, Chapter 1, verse 16.

The motto reflects the monastic origins of the College, in which the monk sees God as the source and origin of all wisdom. “Fear” is to be understood as reverence and awe of God’s majesty. Saint Benedict in the Prologue of his Rule for Monks calls the monk to a monastery to teach him the fear of the Lord (RB, Prologue, line 12).

ABBEY SHIELD

The Saint Anselm shield designed by Mr. Pierre de Chaignon la Rose of Harvard University incorporates the personal coat of Saint Anselm of Canterbury and the first seal of the State of New Hampshire. The shield was executed in 1927 to be the official shield of the monastery at Saint Anselm which was raised to the status of an Abbey that year. The personal coat of arms of Saint Anselm, Archbishop of Canterbury (1033-1109), has a sable cross set on a field of silver, with three drops of blood in each quadrant. A sheaf of five arrows taken from the first shield of the State of New Hampshire forms the central element of the shield. These five arrows represent the five original counties of the State.

Hence, the Abbey shield can be interpreted as Saint Anselm of New Hampshire.

COLLEGE LOGO

The Saint Anselm college logo is the central element used in identifying the College. The logo consists of the date “1889” below the Abbey shield with the name of the College in a select font placed either above or to the right of the shield and date. There are three variations of the logo used to represent the College.
