A SURVEY OF NEW HAMPSHIRE VOTER ATTITUDES APRIL 21-25, 2018

Chair, Department of Sociology

OVERVIEW:

These results are from the Saint Anselm College Survey Center poll based on interviews with 630 randomly-selected registered voters in the state of New Hampshire. Interviews were conducted by landline and cellular phone between April 21st and April 25th. The overall survey has a margin of sampling error of 3.9% with a confidence interval of 95%; the margin of sampling error on questions specific to the congressional districts is 5.7%.

New Hampshire Institute of Politics Executive Director Neil Levesque summarized the results, saying, “The New Hampshire political environment has improved somewhat for Republicans since our last survey in February. President Donald Trump has seen modest gains in popularity among Republicans, Democrats and Independents, although he still suffers from an 18-point net negative favorability at 40%-58%. Governor Chris Sununu is consolidating his support, with a 62%-28% favorability that includes a 10-point gain in voters who have a strongly favorable view of him. 51% of voters believe that Sununu deserves a second term versus 36% who would like to give someone else a chance, and neither of his current potential fall opponents are as of yet well known to voters. Senators Shaheen and Hassan continue to enjoy solid support.”

Levesque continued, “The Democratic lead in the 1st Congressional District generic ballot has narrowed significantly to 41%-38% from an 11-point gap in February. The race for this open seat will be one to watch throughout the summer and fall, as no candidate other than Executive Councilor Chris Pappas starts with any significant voter recognition. In the 2nd Congressional District, Congresswoman Ann McLane Kuster has increased to nearly a 13-point net positive favorability from 3 points in February, and now stands at 45%-32%. Although voters would prefer to give a new person a chance by a 45%-32% margin, Kuster’s current potential fall opponents as of today are not well known to voters.”

Levesque concluded, “Turning to current events, voters have very different impressions of two former FBI directors who have attracted President Trump’s ire. 54% of voters believe that Special Counsel Robert Mueller has been fair in his investigation of links between the Trump campaign and the Russian government versus 31% who believe he has been unfair. By contrast, 50% of voters believe that James Comey published his recent book to further a personal agenda versus 29% that believe that he did so to shed light on important matters concerning the Trump administration.”
